Candidate: Cameron Schroy

Office Running for: Franklin County Commissioner

Candidate Summary: Cameron is a social studies teacher in Waynesboro, as well as a life-long resident of Franklin County. He's served on the Franklin County Democratic Committee since 2014 and was elected chair in 2022 — the youngest in Pennsylvania. His wife Alex and himself are homeowners in Greencastle and have been married for four years. Born in Chambersburg in 1996, Cameron is a graduate of Greencastle-Antrim Senior High School and Shippensburg University.

As a career educator, Cameron knows communication and cooperation are key to tackling complex issues and finding solutions. Cameron believes we need to bring as many voices to the table in our county government and make sure that no one feels shut out or shut down.

As Commissioner Ziobrowski's running mate, Cameron will strive to achieve the proven, thoughtful leadership that has been set before him. A leadership that takes great care to do what is right for our county. As a life-long resident of Franklin County, Cameron wants to help our communities thrive for years to come.

Cameron's priorities as commissioner are to expand public transit, curb over development along I-81, preserve our historical sites and farmland, bring more affordable child care options to Franklin County, combat addiction and substance abuse through evidence-based policies, and to support and sustain the high quality of life we've achieved here.
